

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Christ is among us! This coming Thursday we begin our study of the book "For the Life of the World." I believe it will be a rewarding study for all of us, as we plumb the depths of the Orthodox Church's social theology.

To this end, please find below our first Study Guide that will focus our discussions on the most important points and will assist you in reading the text. I will produce these, as in the past, as we move through the chapters. If you have any friends or fellow believers whom you think might benefit from this study, they are more than welcome – and they need not be Orthodox to participate!

I very much look forward to our study together. Let us grow not only in our knowledge, but in our hearts. The social teaching of the Church is but another path to closeness with the Living God. Let us pray for and support each other in this study, let us not be fearful to raise questions or problems.

See you all on Thursday!

I pray for you all and ask your fervent prayers for the first among sinners,

CHRYSOSTOM+
